

I hoisted the sail on my small, wooden boat and set off across the deep, blue ocean. The weather was bitter cold and soon my hands were freezing! Suddenly I saw an enormous but amazing iceberg in the distance. It was a fantastic sight and the sun sparkled off the beautiful ice. How could something so cold be so fantastic?

LO: Can I write adjectives in a sentence?
Can I use commas in a list?

Task: Write a paragraph (2 or 3 sentences about the same subject) describing the icebergs when you see them for the first time.

Bronze

- I can write adjectives to describe my nouns.
- I can check that my sentences make sense.
- I can punctuate my sentences correctly.

Silver

- I can write more than one adjective to describe some of my nouns.
- I can use a comma in a list.

Gold

- I can write sentences where the adjective isn't always next to the noun.
- Example- The iceberg was white and shimmering in the light.