Sticky Knowledge

Port Sunlight is a village in Wirral, Merseyside with a population of 1,450 people.

Port Sunlight was created because William Lever needed a place for the workers to live near his factory for his Soap Works. The village was planned to be a healthy places for the people with open spaces, education and leisure.

The company (Unilever) then a charity, have cared for the village for years. It has been kept the same (conserved). There have been few changes to the village.

There is a train station that goes to Liverpool and Chester. The Lady Lever Art Gallery is a museum built in 1922 by William Lever. It has important pieces like Ancient Greek vases and Roman sculptures.

There is a museum, 250 houses, the Lady Lever Art Gallery, a hotel (that used to be a hospital), shops, parks and a garden centre.

Contrasting Locality

Prior Learning	Local/National	Unit Objective
Newton-le-Willows I have already learned about Newton-le-Willows within the county of Merseyside and explained what I like and dislike about this locality. I have looked at the journeys people make to different places in Merseyside and the jobs that they may have. UK- London I have already learned about England's capital city: London.	In this unit, we will learn about a locality that is different to Newton-le-Willows. Port Sunlight is a village that was built to house the workers of the Sunlight Soap factory. We will look at the human and physical features of Port Sunlight and ask, 'Why is it like this?'	Human and physical geography Understand geographical similarities and differences through the study of human and physical geography of a region of the United Kingdom.
